Student Highlight CircleIn Scholarship Winners

Congratulations, to our CircleIn scholarship winners, Helen and Sabrina. CircleIn is an easy-to-use study app that instantly connects you with all of your classmates. CircleIn offers a variety of studying features, all in one place that will help you stay productive and pass your classes. You'll be able to create and review flashcards, generate quizzes, share notes, chat with your classmates, get on-demand help, and so much more.

CircleIn is game-based, which means the more you study and collaborate with your classmates, the more points you earn. These points matter because you're able to get awesome rewards like Amazon and Best Buy gift cards, and even scholarships, just for studying and collaborating. Think of it as the app that helps you and rewards you for being a great student.

Visit CircleIn on your computer or laptop or Download the app on your mobile phone by searching for "CircleIn" in your Apple App store or Google Play Store.

Mentor Collective

We are now inviting our newest Grizzlies to take part in the Grizzly Mentor Collective, where you can receive a peer mentor who will help you navigate your first semester at GGC. Last semester, more than 1,300 students received support from experienced GGC peer mentors. Continuing sophomores, juniors and seniors are invited to participate as peer mentors. Students should visit Grizzly Mentor Collective to learn more about the program.

Grizzly Student Success Stories Tuesday, March 23, 2-3 p.m.

Please join us for Grizzly Student Success Stories. Come hear from your fellow students how they've pursued and achieved success here at GGC and what success means to them. Each student will share their journey, with time afterward for discussion and Q&A. Also, join us for our last session that will be held from 2-3 p.m. on Tuesday, April 13.

Emily Morris, '22, English literature and language

Emily is excited to share her story on how she went from academic probation to now working at the AEC as one of their Peer Writing Tutors and PSI Leader for English Composition. Emily worked hard to prove that she was worthy of the college experience and wants to be an encouragement to others.

Greg Smith, '23, information technology

Greg is a mentor with the Elite Scholar Program. He is also an entrepreneur and an artist.

Kiera Olin, '21 psychology

Kiera is excited to share her journey, from starting as a part-time student in 2016 to becoming a full-time student and working at the AEC as a Peer Writing Tutor and Front Desk Assistant.

Reminders and Resources to Support your Academic Success

- Participate in an online tutoring session with the Academic Enhancement Center. Click the "Free Online Tutoring" link on D2L to learn more about scheduling online tutoring appointments. To learn more about the AEC, visit this Link
- Need help with research, a course assignment, or any other individual information need? Just Ask a Librarian by clicking Here. For more in-depth assistance schedule an online appointment with a librarian.
- Want to be part of a campus common experience? Participate in GGC Reads. This year's selection is America Ferrera's American Like Me: Reflections on Life Between Cultures. Free copies of the book will be available to students. For more information about events and the book, see American Like Me.
- The FAFSA for the 2021-2022 school year is now open. Visit GGC Financial Aid for tips on applying for aid.

World Language Tables

Wednesday, April 14

Thursday, April 15

1:30-3:00 p.m.

We are looking for volunteers to host our upcoming World Language Tables.

World Language Tables is a gathering of students, faculty, and staff that share a common interest in different languages.

Volunteers will share their language and culture through pictures, songs, PowerPoint, etc., and will teach participants how to say different words and or phrases in their language.

Participants may choose to join one or multiple language sessions of their choice.

If interested to volunteer as a host, please click here and complete the form. Registration deadline is Monday, March 29.

Due to social distance guidelines, World Language Tables will be held virtually through Microsoft Teams. Individual links to each session will be provided at a later date.
